

*'Every valley shall be lifted up,
and every mountain and hill be made low.'*

*'Every valley shall be lifted up,
and every mountain and hill be made low.'*

*'Ain't no mountain high enough'*¹

*'Ain't no mountain high enough'*¹

When Nick Ashford wrote the song that later became a huge hit for Marvin Gaye and Tammi Terrell and, still later, Diana Ross, he had been wandering the streets of New York City, trying to figure out how he could afford to stay in the city and pursue his dream of being a dancer. The you in the song was meant to be success.²

In a church setting, this refrain can be used to speak to the fact that there is nothing big enough to keep us away from God nor God from us.

Mountain: a large natural elevation of the earth's surface rising abruptly from the surrounding level; a large pile or quantity of something.

What are your mountains? Are there places you struggle to reach because of things in the way? Is your mountain less of an obstacle and more a goal or place of rest?

Whatever our mountains, wherever they are, we can be certain that

When Nick Ashford wrote the song that later became a huge hit for Marvin Gaye and Tammi Terrell and, still later, Diana Ross, he had been wandering the streets of New York City, trying to figure out how he could afford to stay in the city and pursue his dream of being a dancer. The you in the song was meant to be success.²

In a church setting, this refrain can be used to speak to the fact that there is nothing big enough to keep us away from God nor God from us.

Mountain: a large natural elevation of the earth's surface rising abruptly from the surrounding level; a large pile or quantity of something.

What are your mountains? Are there places you struggle to reach because of things in the way? Is your mountain less of an obstacle and more a goal or place of rest?

Whatever our mountains, wherever they are, we can be certain that ¹AZLyrics. (2018) Ain't No Mountain High Enough. Retrieved from <https://www.azlyrics.com/lyrics/marvingaye/aintnomountainhighenough.html>.

²Wall Street Journal. (2018) The Story Behind 'Ain't No Mountain High Enough'. Retrieved from <https://www.wsj.com/articles/the-story-behind-aint-no-mountain-high-enough-1517235736>

¹AZLyrics. (2018) Ain't No Mountain High Enough. Retrieved from <https://www.azlyrics.com/lyrics/marvingaye/aintnomountainhighenough.html>.

²Wall Street Journal. (2018) The Story Behind 'Ain't No Mountain High Enough'. Retrieved from <https://www.wsj.com/articles/the-story-behind-aint-no-mountain-high-enough-1517235736>

*'Every valley shall be lifted up,
and every mountain and hill be made low.'*

God is there with us on our journey. No mountain is too high

This comes as an invitation to sustain the church's ministries and mission with a pledge of financial support. Together, and with God's help, we can move mountains. Combined with contributions of time and talent, our financial pledges bring the church to life in ways that enrich us all and help remove the obstacles to more abundant life.

This is a time when everyone is needed and it is a time for everyone to share in the grace and abundance that flow from faith in action.

Each household should receive in the mail a Pledge Packet containing:

- * a letter introducing the Stewardship Campaign;
- * a pledge card with a return envelope;
- * a STEP diagram showing 2018 pledges;
- * a return envelope for your convenience.

Our formal Commitment Sunday is October 28 but you may bring the completed pledge card to worship any time during the month of October and place it in the receptacle at the mountain display at the front of the sanctuary. You may also mail in your pledges to Wendy Freels' attention at the church office.

More packets will be available at the Connection Point in Asbury Hall.

Thank you for the gifts you will share. God will accomplish great things through us as we work with one another!

NOTE: Electronic giving is available for your convenience. Please let us know if you wish to give online via check or credit card. Forms are available online and in the church office.

*'Every valley shall be lifted up,
and every mountain and hill be made low.'*

God is there with us on our journey. No mountain is too high

This comes as an invitation to sustain the church's ministries and mission with a pledge of financial support. Together, and with God's help, we can move mountains. Combined with contributions of time and talent, our financial pledges bring the church to life in ways that enrich us all and help remove the obstacles to more abundant life.

This is a time when everyone is needed and it is a time for everyone to share in the grace and abundance that flow from faith in action.

Each household should receive in the mail a Pledge Packet containing:

- * a letter introducing the Stewardship Campaign;
- * a pledge card with a return envelope;
- * a STEP diagram showing 2018 pledges;
- * a return envelope for your convenience.

Our formal Commitment Sunday is October 28 but you may bring the completed pledge card to worship any time during the month of October and place it in the receptacle at the mountain display at the front of the sanctuary. You may also mail in your pledges to Wendy Freels' attention at the church office.

More packets will be available at the Connection Point in Asbury Hall.

Thank you for the gifts you will share. God will accomplish great things through us as we work with one another!

NOTE: Electronic giving is available for your convenience. Please let us know if you wish to give online via check or credit card. Forms are available online and in the church office.